Before, During, After

Richard Bausch

An emotionally wrenching novel of personal trauma and the destructive nature of keeping secrets, from the world-renowned author of Peace.

Natasha, a lonely congressional aide, meets Michael Faulk, an Episcopalian priest struggling with his faith. Love blossoms over the spring and summer of 2001. A month before their wedding, Natasha is on a trip in Jamaica when the World Trade Centre is attacked. That same day, Natasha endures a private trauma of her own: she is raped. She and Michael are soon reunited, but the horror of that day, and Natasha's inability to speak of it, means that there will forever be a sharp line that divides their relationship into 'before' and 'after'.

From the reviews of Peace:

'A small masterpiece, with the same emotional force and complexity as Conrad's Heart of Darkness'
Colm Tóibín

'Stunning' The Times

'Beautiful... This may be the book of Bausch's career' Guardian

Richard Bausch is the author of twelve novels and eight volumes of short stories. His work has appeared in numerous publications, including the New Yorker, Atlantic Monthly and Esquire. He is professor of English at Chapman University in Orange, California.

Melnitz

Charles Lewinsky

Translated from the German
by Shaun Whiteside

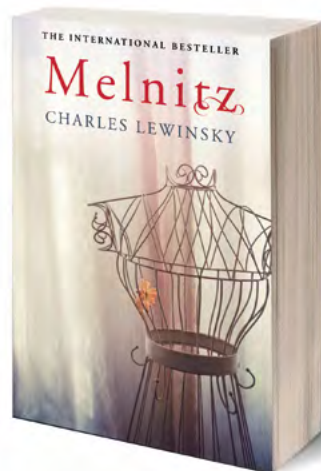

The international-bestselling saga of a large and colourful Jewish family buffeted from respectability-of-sorts in 1871 to the Nazi death camps of 1945.

Cattle-dealer Solomon Meijer has made a reputation for himself among the Gentiles as one of the few honest Jews in Emdingen. He leads a largely untroubled life, rewarded by his work, his wife and his two daughters. But tranquillity is set to end when he answers a knock at the door in the middle of the night. On the doorstep stands his young distant cousin, Janki, half-dead and begging for refuge. Janki is invited in and given a coveted place at the bosom of the family, but when he recovers and regains his ambition and his fine looks, he will change the Meijer family's lives and fortunes for generations to come.

Praise for Melnitz:

'We live, love and suffer with the characters...
An authentic page-turner' Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung (Germany)

'An outstanding novel of a quality only seldom met with' Neue Zürcher Zeitung (Switzerland)

Charles Lewinsky studied German literature and theatre studies in Zurich and Berlin. He received the Schiller Prize Zürcher Kantonalbank for his novel St. John's and was nominated for the 2011 Swiss Book Prize for Gerron. He lives in Zurich and the French Vereux.

The Death's Head Chess Club

John Donoghue

The hugely anticipated novel that explores the impossibilities of forgiveness and friendship between a Nazi and a Jew.

SS Obersturmführer Paul Meissner arrives in Auschwitz fresh from fighting on the Russian front. After being badly wounded, he is fit only for administrative duty and his first and most pressing task is to improve flagging camp morale among the officers and the enlisted men. He sets up a chess club, which thrives as under-the-table bets are made on the results of the games. However, when Meissner learns from a chance remark that chess is also played by the prisoners he hears of a Jewish watchmaker who is 'unbeatable'...

John Donoghue has worked in mental health for over twenty years and written numerous articles about the treatment of mental illness in a variety of medical journals. He is married and lives in Liverpool.

When the Doves Disappeared

Sofi Oksanen

Translated from the Finnish by Lola Rogers

A chillingly suspenseful novel that reveals the little-known occupation, resistance and collaboration in Estonia during and after the Second World War.

As the war begins to close in on Estonia, three people are locked in a destructive triangle: Roland, a principled independence fighter; his cousin Edgar, who will do almost anything to hide his secrets and maintain his connection to those in power; and Edgar's wife Juudit, who is buffeted in turns by her love for a German officer, her fear of returning to her unhappy, unconsummated marriage and her bond with the idealistic Roland.

Praise for Purge:

'Powerful, passionately wrought, emotionally shattering, extraordinary' Independent

'Purge stands out. Murder, sexual violence and political history combine to place Oksanen in the front rank of crime novelists.' Sunday Times
'Books of the Year'

Sofi Oksanen is a Finnish-Estonian novelist and playwright, and the internationally acclaimed author of Purge. She has received numerous prizes for her work, including the Swedish Academy Nordic Prize, the Prix Femina, the Budapest Grand Prize, the European Book Prize and the Nordic Council Literature Prize. She lives in Helsinki.

Seveneves

Neal Stephenson

The gorgeously imagined new novel from the brilliant Neal Stephenson.

When the moon blows up, a meteorite storm is predicted that could last for thousands of years, rendering the earth's surface uninhabitable. In preparation, the nations of the earth send an ark of humans to an International Space Station. But the Station isn't immune to the galactic catastrophe and many of its people are lost, mostly men. When stability is reached, only seven humans remain, all of them women.

Thirty thousand years later, two tribes exist: those who survived on earth, living rustic, primitive lives; and those who derived from the Seven Eves of the space station, affluent, sophisticated, organized sects looking to colonize the surface of earth.

From the reviews for Reamde:

'Fantastic' Sunday Times

'Outrageously entertaining' Guardian

'Sometimes when you're reading Neal Stephenson, he doesn't just seem like one of the best novelists writing in English right now; he seems like the only one' Time

The Lives of Women

Christine Dwyer Hickey

The stunning new novel from the bestselling author of Last Train from Liguria.

Thirty years ago Elaine was a teenager, growing up on a small out-of-town 1970s estate. Every day the men would go to work while the women repressed the tedium of suburban life: frustrations and appetites hidden behind a wall of respectability. Yet Elaine knew that most houses have their secrets.

When an American family moved into the estate, the veneer of respectability began to crack. The neighbours started to socialize with each other, they learned how to drink martinis, children were left to their own devices.

Thirty years ago a tragic event changed all their lives.

Praise for The Cold Eye of Heaven:

‘The most profound novel I have read for years’ Guardian

‘Extraordinary’ Independent on Sunday

‘Christine Dwyer Hickey’s most achieved, taut and nuanced novel to date.’

Irish Independent

Christine Dwyer Hickey is an award-winning novelist and short-story writer. Last Train from Liguria was nominated for the Prix L'Européen de Littérature and her last novel, The Cold Eye of Heaven, won Irish Novel of the Year 2012 and was nominated for the IMPAC 2013 award. She lives in Dublin.

Jimfish

Christopher Hope

From one of South Africa's finest novelists comes a glittering and vivid fable of politics and power.

If he's white he is not the right sort of white. But if he's black, who can say? I'll give his age as 18, and call him Jimfish. Because he's a real fish out of water, this one is.

So begins the odyssey of Jimfish, a South African Everyman, who defies the usual classification of race that defines the rainbow nation. His journey through the last years of Apartheid will extend beyond the borders of South Africa to the wider world, where he will be an unlikely witness to the defining moments of the dying days of the twentieth century.

From the reviews for My Mother's Lovers:

‘Remarkable... Grave and tender, savage and subtle’ Guardian

‘A brilliant, compelling novel about innocence and betrayal’ The Times

‘Excellent and extraordinary’ Daily Telegraph

Christopher Hope was born in Johannesburg in 1944. He is the author of nine novels and one collection of short stories, including Serenity House, which was shortlisted for the 1992 Booker Prize. My Mother's Lovers and Shooting Angels were published by Atlantic Books in 2012 to great acclaim.

Himmler's Cook

Franz-Olivier Giesbert

Translated from the French by Anthea Bell

The international bestseller, Himmler's Cook is an utterly charming and beguiling tale of a woman who witnessed the very worst of the twentieth century but never lost her passion for love, life, good people and fine food.

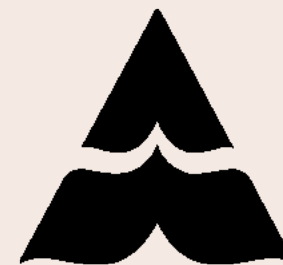

Aged 105, Rose has endured more than her fair share of hardships – the Armenian genocide, the Nazi regime and the delirium of Maoism. Yet somehow, despite all the suffering, Rose never loses her joie de vivre. Quirky and eccentric, Himmler's Cook is a hilarious picaresque tale of survival, as Giesbert depicts Rose's unique life experiences – cook for Himmler, confidante to Hitler and friend of Simone de Beauvoir. The novel tells the epic tale of an inspiring, resilient Marseillaise chef who embodies the sentiment of what doesn't kill you only makes you stronger.

Franz-Olivier Giesbert is a French author, journalist and television presenter. He has worked for Le Nouvel Observateur, Le Figaro and Le Point and he appears on literary and cultural television shows on a range of channels.

Reaching Down the Rabbit Hole

Extraordinary Journeys into the Human Brain

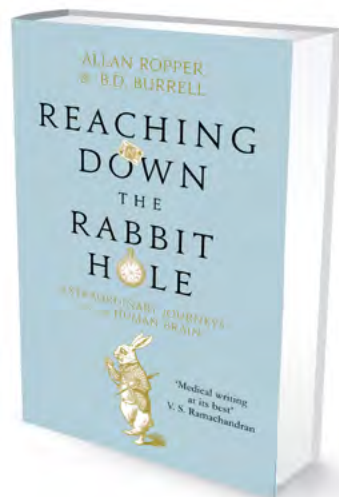

Allan Ropper with
B. D. Burrell

One of the world's leading neurologists reveals the stories behind some of the brain disorders that he and his staff endeavour to treat.

In this gripping book, Dr Allan Ropper takes the reader behind the scenes at Harvard Medical School's neurology unit to show how a seasoned diagnostician faces down bizarre, life-altering afflictions. Like Alice in Wonderland, Dr Ropper inhabits a world where absurdities abound.

How does one begin to treat such cases, to counsel people whose lives may be changed forever? How does one train the next generation of clinicians to deal with the moral and medical aspects of brain disease? Ropper answers these questions by taking the reader into a rarified world where lives and minds hang in the balance.

'Peppered with insights into the scientific method, emphasizing that it's not the cold, rational, Sherlock Holmes-like deductive process it's often portrayed to be. Medical writing at its best.' V. S. Ramachandran, bestselling author of The Tell-Tale Brain

Allan Ropper is a professor at Harvard Medical School and the Raymond D. Adams Master Clinician at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston.

B. D. Burrell is the author of Postcards from the Brain Museum. He divides his time between writing and statistical research with neuroscientific applications.

The Internet is Not the Answer

Andrew Keen

In this controversial new book, Andrew Keen argues that the Internet has had a disastrous impact on all our lives.

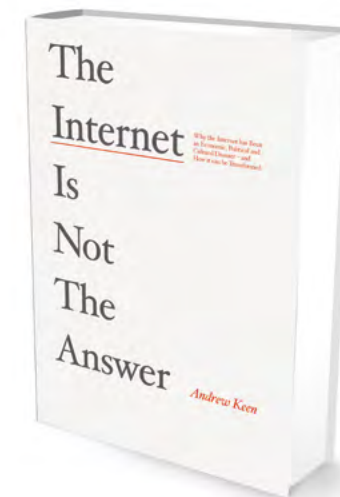

There can be no doubt that the digital revolution has transformed the world, but, according to Andrew Keen, instead of making us more equal, more prosperous and more empowered, the reverse is actually true. Twenty-five years on from the invention of the World Wide Web, its cultural, political, social and, above all, economic failures are becoming painfully apparent.

So what is to be done? Keen says we need to rethink the Web, revive government authority, rebuild the value of content, resurrect privacy and reconceive humanity. If we do nothing, he warns, this new technology will continue to impoverish us all.

Praise for Digital Vertigo:

'Andrew Keen has found the off switch for Silicon Valley's reality distortion field.'

Nicholas Carr, bestselling author of The Shallows

Andrew Keen is an Anglo-American entrepreneur, writer, broadcaster and speaker. He is currently the host of 'Keen On', the popular Techcrunch chat show. His books include Digital Vertigo and The Cult of the Amateur.

This Divided Island

Stories from the Sri Lankan War

Samanth Subramanian

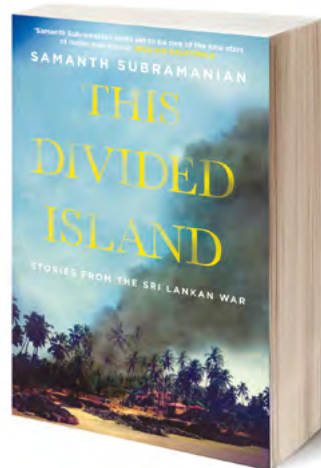

A harrowing and humane investigation of Sri Lanka's thirty-year civil war, from the acclaimed author of Following Fish.

In the summer of 2009, the leader of the dreaded Tamil Tiger guerrillas was killed, bringing to a bloody end the stubborn and complicated civil war in Sri Lanka. With its genius for brutality, the war left few places, and fewer people, untouched.

Taking us to the ghosts of summers past, and to other battles from other times, Samanth Subramanian draws out the story of Sri Lanka, today an exhausted, disturbed society, still hot from the embers of the war. Through travels and conversations, he examines how people reconcile themselves to violence, how religion and state conspire, how the powerful become cruel, and how victory can be put to the task of reshaping memory and burying histories.

'Brutal majoritarians and ruthless insurgents have long monopolised our sense of Sri Lanka... In This Divided Island, one of our finest young writers of non-fiction reveals the complicated lives lived in their shadow.'

Pankaj Mishra

Samanth Subramanian studied journalism at Pennsylvania State University and international relations at Columbia University. He has written for, among other publications, the Guardian, the New Yorker, the New York Times and The Hindu. His first book, Following Fish: Travels Around the Indian Coast, was published by Atlantic Books.

The Village Effect

Why Face-to-face Contact Matters

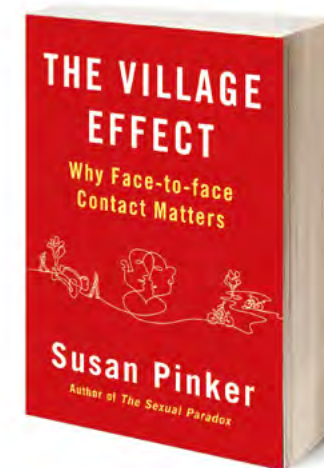

Susan Pinker

In this compelling new book, award-winning author and psychologist Susan Pinker shows how face-to-face contact is crucial for learning, happiness, resilience and longevity.

Marrying the findings of the new field of social neuroscience with gripping human stories, Susan Pinker explores the impact of face-to-face contact from cradle to grave, from city to Sardinian mountain village, from classroom to workplace, from love to marriage to divorce.

Most of us have left the literal village behind and don't want to give up our new technologies to go back there. But Pinker argues that we need close social bonds and uninterrupted face-time with our friends and families in order to thrive – even to survive. Creating our own 'village effect' makes us happier. It can also save our lives.

'A terrific book . . . Pinker makes a hardheaded case for a softhearted virtue. Read this book. Then talk about it – in person! – with a friend.' Daniel H. Pink, bestselling author of Drive and To Sell Is Human

Susan Pinker is a developmental psychologist, columnist and broadcaster who writes about social science. Her first book, The Sexual Paradox, was published in seventeen countries and was awarded the William James Book Award by the American Psychological Association.

Victoria's Cross

The Untold Story of Britain's
Highest Award for Bravery

Gary Mead

This controversial book reveals the unpalatable truth about Britain's highest military honour, exposing a shameful history of nepotism, misogyny and political expediency.

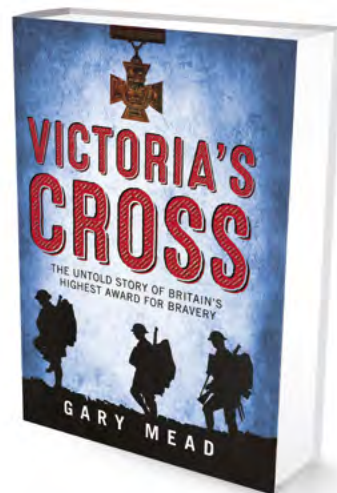

Born out of the squalor of the Crimean War in 1856, the VC's prestige is such that it takes precedence over all other orders and medals in Britain. But while many books have been written about the VC and its recipients, none have asked why so many brave men who deserved the medal were denied it, and why no women have ever been awarded the VC, even though they are entitled.

Military historian Gary Mead exposes the hypocrisy behind one of the UK's last sacred cows, and explores its role as a barometer for the shifting sands of political and social change during the last 150 years.

Praise for The Good Soldier: The Biography of Douglas Haig:

'The best and fairest biography of Haig that I have read.' Allan Massie, Daily Telegraph

'Subtle and well written' Andrew Roberts, Mail on Sunday

Gary Mead was a journalist for the Financial Times for ten years and has worked extensively with the BBC. He is the author of The Doughboys: America and the First World War (2000) and The Good Soldier: The Biography of Douglas Haig (2007).

The Book of the People

How to Read the Bible

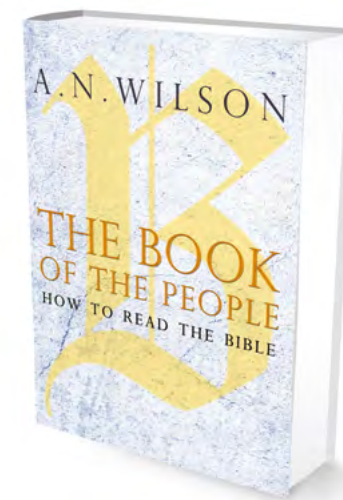

A. N. Wilson

A dazzling and original exploration of how, and why, we should still be reading the Bible, even if we no longer believe.

A. N. Wilson has been thinking about the Bible, and reading it, since he read theology at university. In The Book of the People he explores how readers and thinkers have approached the Bible, and how it might be read today. Charting his own relationship with the Bible, Wilson argues that it remains relevant to today's society, as a philosophical work, a work of literature and a cultural touchstone. Erudite, witty and accessible, The Book of the People seeks to reclaim the Good Book as our seminal work of literature, and a book for the imagination.

Praise for Dante in Love:

'Wilson writes with wit, clarity, affection and erudition lightly worn' The Times

A. N. Wilson grew up in Staffordshire and was educated at Rugby and New College, Oxford. A Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature, he holds a prominent position in the world of literature and journalism. He is a prolific, award-winning biographer and celebrated novelist. He lives in north London.

Altruism

The Power of Compassion to Change Yourself and the World

Matthieu Ricard

The new bestseller from Matthieu Ricard is the result of a lifetime's thought.

In Happiness, Matthieu Ricard demonstrated that true happiness is not tied to fleeting moments or sensations, but is rooted in mindfulness and compassion for others. Now he turns his lens from the personal to the global with a rousing argument that altruism could be the saving grace of the twenty-first century.

Building on concrete examples, Ricard makes a robust and passionate case for cultivating altruistic love and compassion as the best means for simultaneously benefitting ourselves and our society.

Devotion

An Epic True Story of Heroism, Brotherhood and Sacrifice

Adam Makos

The overwhelming true story of one of the most incredible rescue missions in aviation history, from the author of the Sunday Times bestseller A Higher Call.

Devotion is the gripping story of two US Navy pilots, Tom Hudner and Jesse Brown, who were wingmen during the Korean War. In the climactic battle at the Chosin Reservoir, they flew headlong into waves of enemy troops in order to defend an entire division of Marines trapped on a frozen lake. When Jesse was shot down and pinned in the burning wreckage of his fighter, Tom then faced an unthinkable choice – to see his friend burn to death or to go down in a blaze of glory, flouting the rules to crash-land behind enemy lines and save Jesse.

Wild

A Journey from Lost to Found (film tie-in)

Cheryl Strayed

With an electric Oscar-predicted performance by Reese Witherspoon, the hit memoir becomes a heavyweight Hollywood film.

At twenty-six, Cheryl Strayed thought she had lost everything. In the wake of her mother's death from cancer, and as her family fell apart, she made the most impulsive decision of her life: to walk eleven-hundred miles of the west coast of America – and to do it alone.

From the reviews of Wild:

'Extraordinary... Truly wild: dirty, beautiful, serene' Sunday Telegraph

Cheryl Strayed is the author of the critically acclaimed novel Torch and the huge New York Times-bestselling memoir Wild. She lives in Portland, Oregon.

Countrymen

How Denmark's Jews Escaped the Nazis

Bo Lidegaard

Translated from the Danish by Robert Maass

'One of the most extraordinary – and genuinely moving – stories of the last century' Dominic Sandbrook, Sunday Times

Bo Lidegaard thrillingly reconstructs the events of October 1943, when ninety-five per cent of Denmark's Jewish population were smuggled out of the country, and shows how it was possible for a small and fragile democracy to stand against the Third Reich.

Bo Lidegaard is a Danish historian, author and editor-in-chief of the daily newspaper Politiken.

The Locked Room

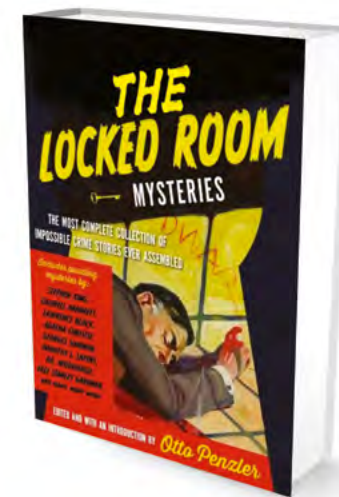

Otto Penzler (ed)

One thousand pages of locked-room mysteries! Agatha Christie, Arthur Conan Doyle, Dashiell Hammett, Ellery Queen, Dorothy L. Sayers, P. G. Wodehouse and Stephen King rub shoulders in this definitive collection.

The purest kind of detective story involves a crime solved by observation and deduction, rather than luck, coincidence and confession. The supreme form of detection involves the explanation of an impossible crime: a murder that leaves no trace, or the most unlikely villain imaginable. In this supreme tome, Edgar Award-winning editor Otto Penzler selects a multifarious mix from across the history of the locked-room story. Virtually all of the great writers of detective fiction have produced masterpieces in this genre, and with contributions from Agatha Christie, Edgar Allan Poe, Arthur Conan Doyle and many more this should form the cornerstone of any crime reader's library.

Praise for Murder and Obsession:

'Original stories from an all-star team... an enjoyable collection' Publishers Weekly

Otto Penzler is the proprietor of The Mysterious Bookshop in New York City and the founder of The Mysterious Press, Otto Penzler Books and The Armchair Detective Library. He is the recipient of an Edgar Award and the prestigious Ellery Queen Award for his exceptional contributions to publishing.

Based on a True Story

Elizabeth Renzetti

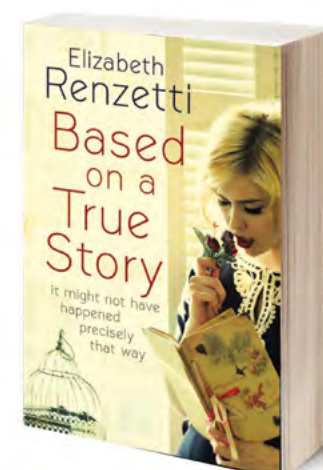

Marian Keyes meets Adele Parks in this smart and entertaining novel about celebrity culture, lies and consequences: How far would you go to hide the truth about yourself?

Fresh out of rehab, British soap-opera diva Augusta Price has one last chance to turn her life around. Her loosely truthful memoir has become an unlikely hit, and she is determined to use that fame to start afresh. But Augusta is her own worst enemy.

When she discovers that her former lover is planning a tell-all book Augusta is enraged. Concerned that her own version of events is not the most accurate, she decides to ensure her story is the only one that sees the light of day.

Aided by her ghostwriter, Augusta finds her way back to California and her lost love. It is time to face up to her past: something that will make or break Augusta Price.

Hilarious and unforgettable, Augusta will find her way into your heart — and steal it, along with all your vodka.

Elizabeth Renzetti is a columnist and former Arts and Books editor for the Globe and Mail, working in the newspaper's Los Angeles and London bureaus. She has also been editor of Elm Street magazine and she regularly appears as a radio and television commentator.

You Sent Me a Letter

Lucy Dawson

What if your worst enemy found out your darkest secret? What if they wanted to destroy your life?

At 2 a.m. on the morning of her fortieth birthday, Sophie wakes in the darkness – and finds a stranger watching her from the foot of her bed. The intruder hands Sophie a letter and issues an ultimatum: the message is to be opened at her forthcoming party, in front of gathered family and friends. Failure to comply will not end well.

Sophie can think of only one person who hates her enough to have hired a professional to menace her: her fiancé's ex-wife. What can the letter possibly contain? And why must it be read in front of everyone she loves best?

But Sophie is not the only person holding a secret about the evening ahead. When the time comes, the course of several people's lives will be heartbreakingly altered forever.

THE STEVENS & WINDERMERE SERIES

Kill Fee

Owen Laukkanen

The third sensational instalment in the Stevens & Windermere series from one of the most dazzling new voices in crime fiction.

In Saint Paul, Minnesota state investigator Kirk Stevens and his sometime colleague FBI special agent Carla Windermere witness the assassination of a local billionaire. The shooter flees the scene, but not before the pair see his face – and the blank expression in his eyes. Stevens and Windermere investigate and are led across the country, down dead-ends and into long-forgotten cold cases, until they finally discover a chilling clue: a high-tech murder-for-hire website. It's a break in the case but only the beginning. Who is the dead-eyed shooter? Who recruits the assassins? And who profits from the fee? It is a race against the clock, and the killer has his next target in sight...

THE VESPASIAN SERIES

Rome's Lost Son

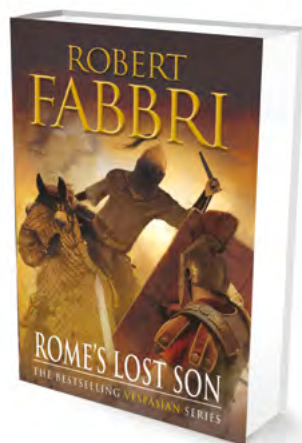

Robert Fabbri

Vespasian's ascent to power continues in the sixth instalment of Robert Fabbri's bestselling series.

Rome, AD 51: After eight years of resistance, the British warrior Caratacus has been caught. But even Vespasian's victory cannot remove the new consul from Roman politics: Agrippina, Emperor Claudius's wife, pardons Caratacus.

Claudius's drinking is turning him into a fool and his two freedmen, Narcissus and Pallas, are battling for control of the throne. They each separately order Vespasian to travel east to Armenia and defend Rome's interests. Soon, Vespasian learns conspiracy is afoot – Agrippina is plotting to destabilize the East and Narcissus determined to ruin her, Pallas to save her.

In Armenia, Vespasian is captured. Immured in the oldest city on earth, can he escape? And is a Rome ruled by a woman who despises Vespasian any safer than a prison cell?

Robert Fabbri read Drama and Theatre at London University and has worked in film and TV for 25 years as an assistant director, working on productions including Hornblower, Patriot Games and Billy Elliot. His life-long passion for ancient history inspired him to write the Vespasian series. He lives in London and Berlin.

The Templar Series

The Templar Inheritance

Mario Reading

John Hart's second thrilling adventure takes him to the dangerous borderlands of the Middle East in search of the lost Copper Scroll of Solomon.

2013: A bomb goes off in As Sulaymaniyah, Iraq. Veteran photojournalist John Hart and his beautiful Kurdish translator are caught in the blast – and the ensuing chaos.

1198: Johannes von Hartelius, ancestor of John Hart, discovers that the Copper Scroll, the most prized possession of the Knights Templar, has been stolen. The code-written scroll is said to hold the secret of Solomon's Treasures.

2013: Hart finds a secret message from his forbear inside the Holy Spear. Is it possible that the mountain in Iran known as Solomon's Prison holds the Copper Scroll? Hart seeks to find out, echoing Von Hartelius's epic battle, nearly one thousand years earlier.

Mario Reading is the author of eight non-fiction titles and five novels. His varied life has included selling rare books, teaching riding in Africa, studying dressage in Vienna, running a polo stable in Gloucestershire and maintaining a coffee plantation in Mexico.

The Eden Series

Mother of Eden

Chris Beckett

From a rising star of British SF comes a richly imagined sequel to Dark Eden, winner of the Arthur C. Clarke award, 2013.

Generations after the break-up of the human family of Eden, the Johnfolk emphasize knowledge and innovation, the Davidfolk tradition and cohesion. But both have built hierarchical societies sustained by violence and dominated by men – and both claim to be the favoured children of a long-dead woman from Earth that all Eden knows as Gela, the mother of them all.

When Starlight Brooking meets a handsome man from across Worldpool, she believes he will offer an outlet for her ambition. She has no idea that she will be a stand-in for Gela herself, and wear Gela's ring.

And she has no idea of the enemies she will make, and that a time will come when she, like John Redlantern, will choose to kill...

Praise for Dark Eden:

'A world I am desperate to return to' Guardian

'A classic theme, beautifully told' Sunday Telegraph

The Woman Who Lost Her Soul

Bob Shacochis

This Pulitzer Prize finalist is the first book in ten years from one of America's foremost contemporary fiction writers.

Renowned through four award-winning books for his gritty and revelatory visions of the Caribbean, Bob Shacochis returns to occupied Haiti in The Woman Who Lost Her Soul before sweeping across time and continents to unravel tangled knots of romance, espionage and vengeance. In riveting prose, Shacochis builds a complex and disturbing story about the coming of age of America in a pre-9/11 world. Set over fifty years and in four countries facing different wars, The Woman Who Lost Her Soul is National Book Award winner Bob Shacochis's magnum opus.

'A new masterpiece... Will be read and reread for many years to come.' San Francisco Chronicle

'Engrossing... always so relentlessly captivating that you don't dare fall behind.' Washington Post

'May well be the last Great American Novel.' Los Angeles Review of Books

Bob Shacochis is a contributing editor for Outside and Harper's. He is the author of two collections of stories, Easy in the Islands and The Next New World; the novel Swimming in the Volcano; The Immaculate Invasion, literary reportage about Haiti; and Domesticity, a collection of essays on food and love.

The White Van

Patrick Hoffman

A compelling, original thriller from a fresh new voice in crime fiction.

At a dive bar in San Francisco's edgy Tenderloin district, Emily Rosario is drinking whiskey and looking for an escape. When she is approached by a mysterious and wealthy Russian, she thinks she has found an exit from her drifter lifestyle and drug-addict boyfriend. A week later she finds herself drugged, disoriented and wanted for robbery.

On the other side of town, cop Leo Elias is broke, alcoholic and desperate. When he hears about an unsolved bank robbery, the stolen money proves too strong a temptation. Elias takes the case into his own hands, hoping to find the criminal and the money before anyone else.

'Outstanding... Hoffman writes with great authority' Publishers Weekly (starred review)

Patrick Hoffman is a writer and private investigator based in New York. He recently moved from San Francisco where he worked as an investigator, spending the last five years at the San Francisco Public Defender's Office. This is his debut novel.

The Interior Circuit

A Mexico City Chronicle

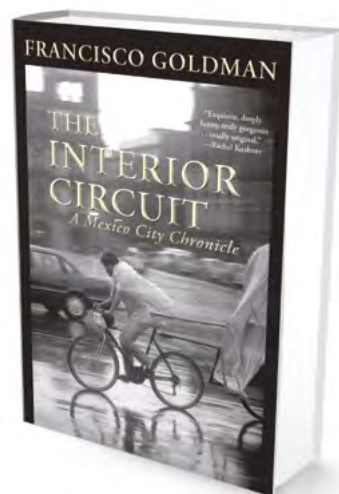

Francisco Goldman

The Interior Circuit* is Goldman's story of his emergence from grief five years after his wife's death.

Embracing Mexico City as his home, Goldman explores and celebrates the city, which stands defiantly apart from so many of the social ills and violence wracking Mexico.

This is the chronicle of an awakening, both personal and political, 'interior' and 'exterior', to the meaning and responsibilities of home. Mexico's narcotics war rages on and, with the restoration of the Institutional Revolutionary Party to power in the 2012 elections, Mexico City's special apartness seems threatened. In the summer of 2013, when Mexican organised-crime violence erupts in the city in an unprecedented way, Goldman sets out to try to understand the menacing challenges the city now faces.

'This book is an exquisite, deeply funny, truly gorgeous panorama of Mexico City by a writer of enormous sensitivities who notices everything. This book will charm and urgently engage you like no other, because it is so totally original.' Rachel Kushner

Francisco Goldman has been a contributing editor for Harper's magazine and his fiction, journalism and essays have appeared in The New Yorker, The New York Review of Books, Esquire and The New York Times Magazine. His latest novel, Say Her Name, won the Prix Femina Etranger.

Painted Horses

Malcolm Brooks

An enthralling debut novel about an extraordinary young woman's quest to tame a wild landscape in the mid-1950s American West.

Catherine Lemay is a young archaeologist on her way to Montana. She has a huge task ahead of her – proving that nothing of historical value will be lost in the flood caused by a major dam project.

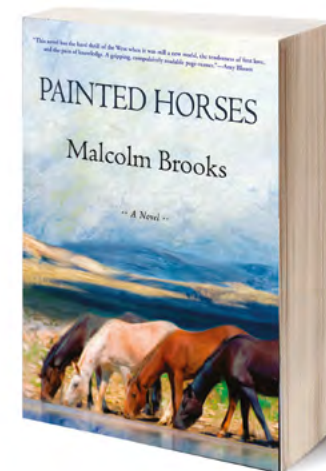

John H is a former mustanger and veteran of the US Army's last mounted cavalry campaign, living a fugitive life in the canyon. He inspires Catherine to see beauty in the stark landscape, and her heart opens to more than just the vanished past.

Painted Horses is an exploration of progress in the middle of the 'American century' and a beautiful, passionate love story.

'A western novel that is about so much more than the West, it is an exquisite, enthralling debut.' Lily King

'Malcolm Brooks should be lauded for this amazing debut.' Jim Harrison, author of Legends of the Fall

Malcolm Brooks grew up around Gold Rush and Native American artefacts in the foothills of the California Sierras. A carpenter by trade, he has lived in Montana for most of the last two decades. This is his debut novel.

The Baby Boom

How It Got That Way (And It Wasn't My Fault) (And I'll Never Do It Again)

P. J. O'Rourke

A hilarious look at the aging baby boomer generation from the author the Spectator labelled 'what happens when America does Grumpy Old Men'.

The Baby Boom – over-sized, overwrought, overbearing, and all over the place, from Donovan to Obama. The generation that said with a straight face, 'We are the world.'

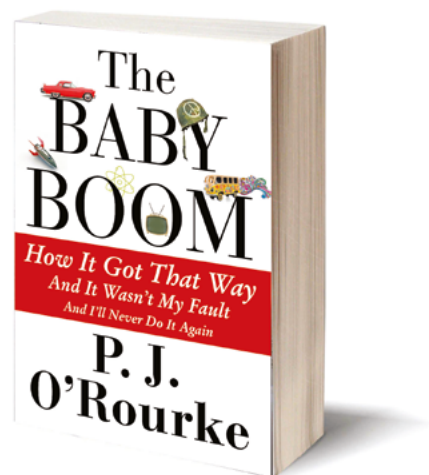

What's so funny about peace, love and understanding? Ask the generation responsible for the fall of the Berlin Wall and their knickers. Who put their faith in the Kyoto Accord and disco. Who dropped out of the capitalist system and popped back again in time to cause a global financial crisis.

How did the Baby Boom become what it is and who let them get away with it?

'Like all the best memoirs, it stirs suppressed memories in the reader... This man writes like a dream' Spectator

'It's very funny, utterly thought-provoking... O'Rourke emerges as a hero admitting what few of his generation dare to.' The Times

'Few journalists are as bold and iconoclastic as P. J. O'Rourke... Thoroughly entertaining.' Daily Mail

P. J. O'Rourke is the author of sixteen books. He is also the most quoted living man in The Penguin Dictionary of Modern Humorous Quotations.

Springtime

A Ghost Story

Michelle de Kretser

A haunting novella from the award-winning author of Questions of Travel.

When Frances met Charlie at a party in Melbourne he was married with a young son.

Now she and Charlie live in Sydney with her rescue-dog Rod and an unshakeable sense that they have tipped the world on its axis. They are still getting their bearings – of each other and of their adopted city. Everything is alien, unfamiliar, exotic: haunting, even.

Worlds of meaning spin out of perfectly chosen words in this rare, beguiling and brilliant ghost story by Miles Franklin Literary Award-winning writer Michelle de Kretser.

Praise for Michelle de Kretser:

‘I so much admire Michelle de Kretser’s formidable technique’ Hilary Mantel

‘Novel by novel, the Sri Lankan-born Australian has emerged as one of the most fiercely intelligent voices in fiction today.’ Independent

Michelle de Kretser is the author of four novels: The Rose Grower, The Hamilton Case, The Lost Dog, which was longlisted for the Man Booker and Orange Prizes, and Questions of Travel, winner of the Miles Franklin Literary Award and shortlisted for the 2014 IMPAC Prize. She lives in Sydney.

The Iron Necklace

Giles Waterfield

A beautiful and movingly portrayed tale of two families, united by marriage but torn apart by war.

The wedding of Thomas, an idealistic German architect, and Irene, an English artist, brings together the Curtius and Benson families. But their peace is soon shattered by the outbreak of war in Europe.

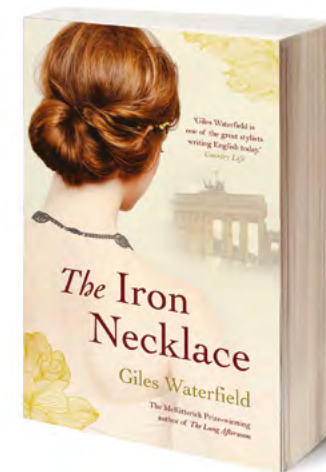

While Irene struggles to survive in a country where she is the enemy, her sister Sophia faces the war as a nurse on the Western Front. For their brother Mark, diplomatic service sees him moving between London, Washington and Copenhagen, all the while struggling to confront his own sexuality.

Against a backdrop of war and its aftermath relationships are tested, sacrifices are made and Irene and her siblings strive to find their place in an evolving world.

Praise for Giles Waterfield:

‘Astute and subtle about relationships of class, love and power’ Literary Review

Giles Waterfield is the Director of Royal Collection Studies and Associate Lecturer at the Courtauld Institute of Art, a trustee of the Charleston Trust and a member of the National Trust Arts Panel. He is the author of three previous novels including the McKitterick Prize-winning The Long Afternoon.

Before I Go

Colleen Oakley

A heart-wrenching debut novel about a young woman with terminal cancer who decides to find a new wife for her husband.

On the eve of her 'Cancerversary' to celebrate three years of being cancer-free, Daisy suffers a devastating blow: her doctor tells her that the cancer is back, but this time it's terminal. She may only have a few months left.

Death is a frightening prospect – but not because she's afraid for herself. She's terrified of what will happen to her brilliant but otherwise charmingly helpless husband Jack when she's no longer there to take care of him. This fear keeps her up at night, until she stumbles on the solution: she has to find him another wife.

Daisy scouts coffee shops and online dating sites looking for Jack's perfect match. But as the thought of him with another woman becomes all too real, Daisy is forced to decide what's more important in the time she has left: her husband's happiness – or her own?

Colleen Oakley is an Atlanta-based writer. Her articles, essays and interviews have been featured in The New York Times, Ladies' Home Journal, Marie Claire, Women's Health, Redbook, Parade and Martha Stewart Weddings. Colleen was previously editor-in-chief of Women's Health & Fitness and senior editor at Marie Claire.
