Atlantic Books

Fiction

Atlantic Fiction has a reputation for publishing bold, innovative, award-winning writing from around the world. This season includes a fight to break a generational curse, virtual-reality theme parks and a sweeping love story set across twentieth-century Italy.

Moderation

Elaine Castillo

'A highly charged, passionate and tender love story... A wonderful book' Kaline Bradley, author of The Ministry of Time.

Girlie works at a social-media moderation centre, removing the very worst of things that make it on to the internet. She's good at it, too – dispassionate, unflinching, maybe because she learned to cauterize all her emotions while still a kid.

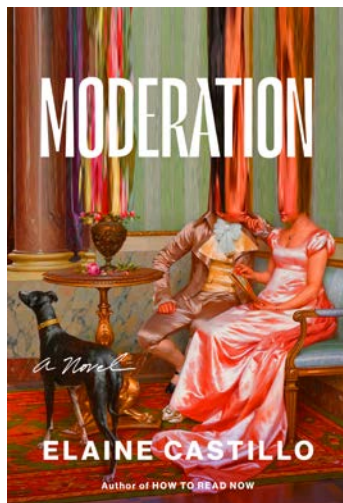

When offered a big promotion to moderate virtual-reality theme parks simulating dead civilizations, it seems too good to be true. But as she explores these intricate worlds, she discovers two things: that something darker might be coded into the company's very foundation, and that William, her new boss, whose mighty emotional barriers match her own, might just be that long forgotten thing... Girlie's type.

Praise for America Is Not the Heart:

'Blazingly fearless... Castillo is hugely talented'
Observer

'Radical... I was startled at how moved I was'
Guardian

'One of the best debut novels (and novels, period) of recent years' Elle

Elaine Castillo was named one of '30 of the planet's most exciting young people' by the Financial Times. She was born in the Bay Area. Her debut novel America Is Not the Heart received widespread acclaim and numerous award nominations.

We Were the Universe

Kimberly King Parsons

'Parsons has gifted us with a profound, gutsy tale of grief's dismantling power' New York Times

When Kit abandons family duties for a weekend getaway, memories of her dead sister Julie resurface. Back home, between caring for her irrepressible daughter and fantasizing about hot playground mums, Kit spirals and begins to ask herself: is Julie really dead?

'A wrenchingly honest novel, full of dark wit and feral delight, about a new mother navigating the trippy, uncharted wilderness between love and grief' Jenny Offill

Kimberly King Parsons won the 2020 National Magazine Award for Fiction. Her debut collection Black Light was longlisted for multiple prizes, including the National Book Award.

Vera, or Faith

Gary Shteyngart

Poignant, sharp-eyed and bitterly funny – the tale of a family struggling to stay together in a country that's rapidly coming apart, by the bestselling author of Our Country Friends.

The Bradford-Shmulkin family is falling apart. A very modern blend of Russian, Jewish, Korean and New England WASP, they love each other deeply but the pressures of life in an unstable America are fraying their bonds. Amidst it all is young Vera, half-Jewish, half-Korean and wholly original. Vera wants only three things in life: a friend at school; Daddy and Anne Mom to stay together; and to meet her birth mother, Mom Mom, who will at last tell Vera the secret of who she really is. Both biting and deeply moving, Vera, or Faith is a boldly imagined story of family and country told through the clear and wondering eyes of a child.

'In its swirls of emotion, its humor and its pathos, the unsparing humanity of its vision, Vera, or Faith is like some fabulous, hitherto-unknown creature that's been let out of its bottle and set free. It begins to seem that there's nothing Gary Shteyngart can't do' Michael Cunningham, Pulitzer Prize-winning author of Day and The Hours

Gary Shteyngart was born in Leningrad in 1972 and came to the United States seven years later. His most recent novel, Our Country Friends, was a New York Times bestseller. His books regularly appear on best-of lists around the world and have been published in thirty countries. He lives in New York with his wife and son.

The Cold Eye of Heaven

Christine Dwyer Hickey

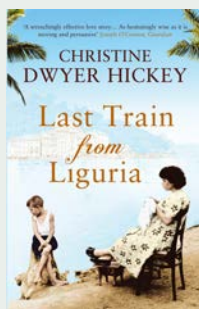

The compellingly intimate and desperately poignant tale of an old man looking back over his life.

Farley is dying and we are by his side. As his mind begins to move back over his 75 years, Farley takes us into his past and with the comic wit of a true Dubliner unravels his life – its loves, its losses and its betrayals – right in front of our eyes.

‘Farley is a triumph’ Irish Independent

‘The most profound novel I have read for years’ Guardian

Christine Dwyer Hickey's books include The Narrow Land, winner of the Walter Scott Prize for Historical Fiction, and Our London Lives.

Last Train from Liguria

Christine Dwyer Hickey

A sweeping tale of consequences that captures the heat and bustle of the pre-war Italian Riviera.

In 1933, Bella Stuart leaves her quiet London life to tutor a child in Italy. She comes to love her young charge, Alec, but as fascism tightens its grip on Europe, the fact he is Jewish places his life in grave danger...

‘A powerfully accomplished work of art’
Joseph O'Connor, Guardian

‘The best book of the year... Extraordinary’
Glasgow Herald

Christine Dwyer Hickey's books include The Narrow Land, winner of the Walter Scott Prize for Historical Fiction, and Our London Lives.

Watching Over Her

Jean-Baptiste Andrea

Translated by Frank Wynne

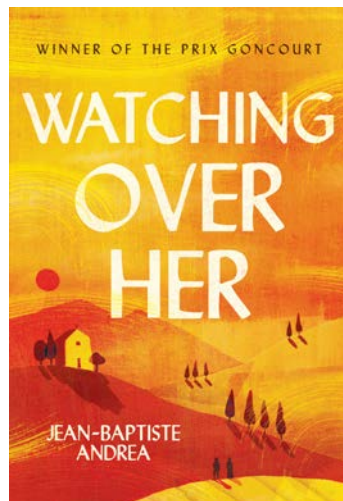

The international bestseller and winner of the Prix Goncourt 2023, with over 700,000 copies sold in France.

In an Italian monastery, a sculptor lays on his deathbed.

During Mimo's final hours, he reveals his life story: his impoverished childhood, his rigorous apprenticeship and his meeting with Viola, the daughter of a powerful family.

Mimo and Viola are instantly drawn to each other. Together, they must navigate the unrest of the twentieth century, from the violence of war to the rise of fascism. While Mimo becomes a celebrated artist, Viola chases her own dreams of becoming an emancipated woman.

Over the decades, they lose and find each other, but never do they give up on the love they share.

Jean-Baptiste Andrea is a writer, screenwriter and director. He is the author of four novels. Watching Over Her was published in France to great critical and commercial success. It is being translated into thirty-one languages.

Phantom Limb

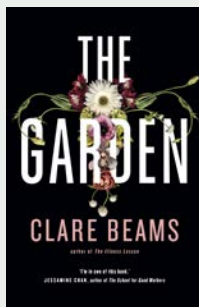

Chris Kohler

A wild, funny, holy relic of a novel about the creation myths of Scotland and the colossal loss of faith and meaning of modern society.

When a disappointed local minister finds a disembodied hand in the earth, he discovers that it can move – even hold a pen and draw wild, scratchy visions. He plans to use it to reinvent himself as a prophet, in the hope that he can impress his ex-girlfriend and lead Scotland into a glorious future.

'Mesmerising... The work of a writer possessed of rare power and vision'
Daily Telegraph

Chris Kohler is from Glasgow. His short stories have appeared in various literary magazines and he was shortlisted for the VS Pritchett Prize.

The Garden

Clare Beams

An eerie, psychologically thrilling novel about womanhood and bodily autonomy.

Irene Willard has had five miscarriages. Pregnant again, she checks into an isolated hospital that promises to deliver the child. But all is not as it seems in this stunning gothic exploration of the policing and manipulation of women's bodies.

'Genius' New York Times

'A feminist voice for the 21st century' Joyce Carol Oates

'Prepare to be haunted' Rachel Yoder

Clare Beams is the author of The Illness Lesson, We Show What We Have Learned and The Garden.

Not Alive, Not Dead

John Donoghue

A gripping historical thriller that follows a priest as he investigates the 'disappeared' in 1970s Argentina.

Buenos Aires, 1976. A military junta rules Argentina with an iron fist. People are going missing. There are whispers of secret detention centres, of torture and murder behind locked doors.

Pablo Morales, a young priest, doesn't believe the rumours, until he hears a series of confessions that force him to confront the truth of the government's crimes – and the complicity of the Catholic Church.

Torn between his faith, his ambition and his conscience, Pablo knows he must investigate. But the deeper he explores this dangerous world rife with corruption and violence, the harder it will be to escape it...

John Donoghue is also the author of The Death's Head Chess Club, which has been translated into twelve languages. He lives in Liverpool with his wife and has worked in mental health for over twenty years.

Cursed Daughters

Oyinkan Braithwaite

The follow-up novel from the Booker Prize-listed, 250,000-copy-bestselling author of My Sister, the Serial Killer.

No man will call your house, home. And if they try, they will not have peace...

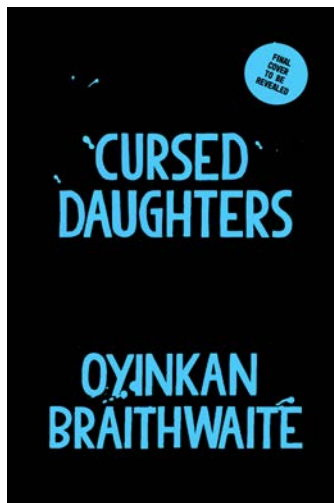

Or so goes the family curse, long handed down from generation to generation, breaking hearts as it goes. And now it's come into the possession of Eniyyi. She's already used to the strange beliefs of her family – her uncanny resemblance to her dead aunt means that her grandmother is sure that she is a reincarnation – but when she falls in love with the handsome boy she saves from drowning, it seems that maybe she really is destined to live out a familiar story of love and heartbreak. The question is, can Eniyyi escape the family curse... and the mysterious fate that befell her aunt?

Praise for My Sister, the Serial Killer

'A literary sensation' Guardian

'Braithwaite is fiendishly talented' The Times

'A sensational debut' Observer

OYINKAN BRAITHWAITE is a Nigerian-British novelist and writer. Her first novel, My Sister, the Serial Killer, was published in 2018 to wide acclaim. It was longlisted for the Booker Prize, shortlisted for the Women's Prize for Fiction, and won the Crime and Thriller Book of the Year in the British Book Awards 2020.

Shy Trans Banshee

Tony Santorella

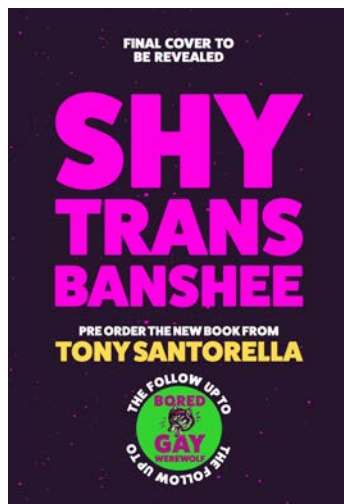

Following in the pawprints of the beloved Bored Gay Werewolf, a new tale of Grindr hook-ups, chosen families and magical misdeeds.

Brian, Nik and Darby – three friends practised in ennui, binge-drinking, hooking up with strangers and fighting supernatural crime (when Brian's not committing it as a werewolf once a month) – are in London to track down a colleague who has gone missing. As they follow increasingly dangerous leads, they uncover a clairvoyancy smuggling ring, located right in the heart of the financial district. Who's kidnapping all the fortune tellers in Soho and why? And is it coincidence, fate or something more sinister altogether that Maeve, a timid trans woman, turns up on the gang's doorstep... and has the uncanny ability to know just what's going to happen next?

Praise for Bored Gay Werewolf:

'An ungodly joy from start to finish... We loved it' Attitude Magazine

'Like a hairier Buffy the Vampire Slayer, a big-hearted novel about finding your "pack" in unexpected places' Marie Claire, Best Books of the Year

Tony Santorella was born in Danvers, Massachusetts, site of the Salem Witch Trials. He is the author of Bored Gay Werewolf and lives with his husband Robert and their cat, Fannie Mae.

The Lives of Women

Christine Dwyer Hickey

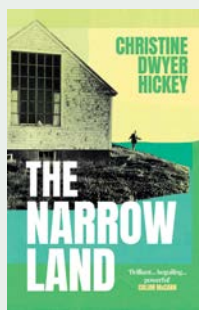

An insightful and suspenseful exploration of women as wives, mothers and daughters.

Following a long absence, Elaine returns to her childhood home to live with her invalid father. Memories bring her back to a summer in the 1970s in this uncompromising portrayal of the suburbs and the cruelties brought about by the demands of respectability.

'Richly textured, insightful and uncompromising' Irish Independent

'One of Ireland's most lauded modern writers' Daily Mail

Christine Dwyer Hickey's books include The Narrow Land, winner of the Walter Scott Prize for Historical Fiction, and Our London Lives.

The Narrow Land

Christine Dwyer Hickey

An achingly beautiful account of 1950s America, winner of the Walter Scott Prize for Historical Fiction.

Ten-year-old Michael is spending the summer with Richie. The boys meet a couple living nearby – the artists Jo and Edward Hopper – and an unlikely friendship is forged in this novel of loneliness, regret and the legacy of World War II.

'It is a long time since I have read such a fine novel' Irish Times

'I loved this book' Graham Norton

Christine Dwyer Hickey's books include Last Train from Liguria and Our London Lives. She lives in Dublin.

Atlantic Books

Non-Fiction

Atlantic publishes a prize-winning and wide-ranging list of non-fiction covering history, politics and current affairs, science and technology, biography and memoir and big ideas. Our Autumn 2025 offering includes Jonas Enander's debut book about the wonder and enduring mystery of black holes, Facing Infinity, and Anthony Seldon's account of his 1,000-km walk from Kilometre Zero to Auschwitz, The Path of Light.

The Mysterious Mr Nakamoto

A Fifteen-year Quest to Unmask the Secret Genius Behind Crypto

Benjamin Wallace

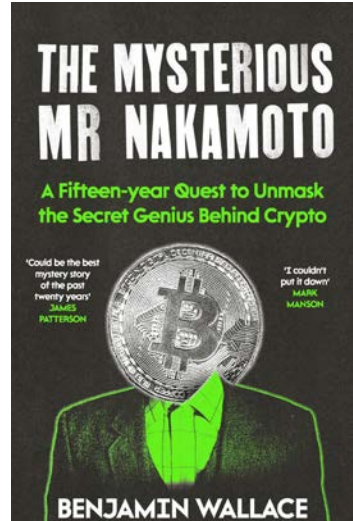

A thrilling investigation into the mysterious identity of the creator of Bitcoin from a New York Times bestselling author.

In October 2008, Satoshi Nakamoto posted a white paper outlining 'a peer-to-peer electronic cash system' called Bitcoin to an arcane Listserv populated by Cypherpunks. No one in the community had heard of Nakamoto, and just as people were starting to wonder who he was, he vanished...

Just who was Satoshi Nakamoto? Tracking leads from London to Oslo to Los Angeles, from coastal Australia to the Arizona desert, and exploring Bitcoin's utopian origins and the world it eventually wrought, The Mysterious Mr Nakamoto takes readers through a rogues' gallery tour to solve the greatest mystery of our time.

'The Mysterious Mr Nakamoto could be the best mystery story of the past twenty years. I'm not sure whether Ben Wallace should win a Pulitzer, be institutionalized... or both' James Patterson

'I couldn't put it down' Mark Manson, #1 New York Times bestselling author of The Subtle Art of Not Giving a Fk

Benjamin Wallace is the New York Times bestselling author of The Billionaire's Vinegar. He has been a features writer at New York and a contributing editor at Vanity Fair.

Didion & Babitz

Lili Anolik

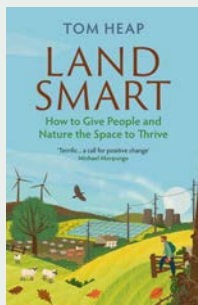

An outrageously provocative joint biography of literary titans Joan Didion and Eve Babitz.

With deftness and skill, Lili Anolik uses Eve Babitz's brilliance of observation, incisive intelligence and, most of all, her diary-like letters – letters so intimate you don't read them so much as breathe them – as the key to unlocking Joan Didion.

'The book is magic. It's all I ever needed'
Lena Dunham

'Immaculately researched and laced with gold' Sunday Times Books of the Year

Lili Anolik is a contributing editor at Vanity Fair and a writer at large for Air Mail.

Landsmart

How to Give People and Nature the Space to Thrive

Tom Heap

A compelling investigation into how we need to urgently change our relationship with our land.

In Landsmart, Tom Heap tours the British countryside meeting the farmers, scientists, conservationists and even warehouse managers who are solving the most pressing challenges facing our countryside – food scarcity, drought and flood, renewable energy, carbon storage and housing – and the world.

'A terrific book' Michael Morpurgo

'A clear, concise and accessible guide to the pivotal question of our age' Guy Shrubsole

Tom Heap is a regular presenter on BBC One's Countryfile and has made many BBC Panorama documentaries on food, energy and the environment.

The Stronger Sex

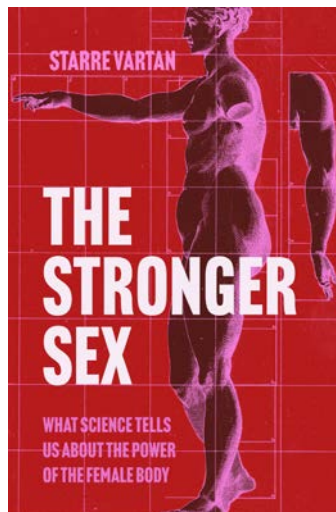

What Science Tells Us About the Power of the Female Body

Starre Vartan

A myth-busting vindication of women's physical strengths.

Like most women, Starre Vartan was told that having a woman's body meant being weaker than men. Like many, she mostly believed it. Not anymore.

In The Stronger Sex, Vartan shows that women's bodies are incredibly powerful, flexible and resilient in ways men's bodies aren't. Tossing aside the narrow notion of the tall, muscular man as the measure of strength, Vartan reveals the ways that women surpass men in endurance, immunity, pain tolerance and the ultimate test of any human body: longevity. The Stronger Sex is a myth-busting celebration that elevates women and advocates for their bodies.

Starre Vartan is a science writer with a focus on health-related biotech, mental health, disease, women's bodies, and environment. She writes on health for numerous outlets including CNN, Scientific American and National Geographic. She worked as a geologist specializing in hydrology before turning to writing about science and health.

V-Force

Britain's Nuclear Bombers and the Cold War

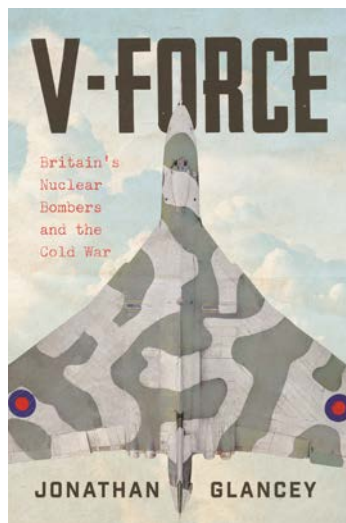

Jonathan Glancey

The definitive account of Britain's Cold War nuclear strike force.

The three models of V class bombers that made up Britain's strategic nuclear deterrent during the Cold War – the Vickers Valiant, Avro Vulcan and Handley Page Victor – were modern marvels of machinery. Capable of both high- and low-level attack with their slick delta wing designs, and supremely quick despite the massive bomb loads they carried, these aircraft defined post-war engineering and conflict.

Despite a fall as precipitous as their rise, the V bombers enjoyed a second life as conventional bombers: most famously the Vulcan in the Falklands war.

V-Force is both an ode to these most resilient, beautiful and underrated of British aircraft, and a lens through which to view Britain's Cold War experience.

Jonathan Glancey is well known as the former architecture and design correspondent of the Guardian and Independent newspapers. A frequent broadcaster, his books include Wings Over Water, The Journey Matters, Concorde, Harrier, Giants of Steam, Spitfire, Nagaland, Tornado and The Story of Architecture.

Praise for Spitfire:

'Hugely entertaining' James Holland

'A wonderful book' Rowland White

'Authoritative and comprehensive' Adrian Swire, Spectator

The Art of Not Eating

A Doubtful History of Appetite and Desire

Jessica Hamel-Akré

A luminously original exploration of the deep roots of diet culture by an award-winning historian.

In this bold and radical book, Jessica Hamel-Akré follows George Cheyne, 'Dr Diet', through the pages of Victorian medical studies, novels and historical scandals, meeting ash-eating mystics, wasting society girls, impoverished female fasters and early feminist philosophers, and shows us how ideas around desirability and want all got tangled up with what we eat.

'A fascinating exploration of the deep roots of our diet culture, and a very personal account of its current repercussions'
Katherine May, author of Wintering

Jessica Hamel-Akré is an award-winning writer on the history of women's health, literature and feminist thought.

Other Rivers

A Chinese Education

Peter Hessler

A revelatory account of China's incredible twenty-first century transformation through the prism of its children.

In 2019, more than twenty years after teaching English in China, Peter Hessler arrived at Sichuan University to a very different China and a new kind of student. Tracing how his students navigate China's restrictions with equanimity and embrace the astonishing new opportunities China's boom affords, Other Rivers is a stunning work of human empathy, showing us China from the inside out and the bottom up.

'Memorable... One of [China's] most astute and sensitive foreign observers' Financial Times

Peter Hessler is a staff writer at the New Yorker, where he served as Beijing correspondent from 2000–2007 and Cairo correspondent from 2011–2016.

Peacemaker

U Thant, the United Nations and the Forgotten History of the 1960s

Thant Myint-U

An unparalleled biography of U Thant, the United Nations' longest-serving Secretary-General.

In Peacemaker, Thant Myint-U traces his grandfather's rise from schoolteacher in a small Burmese backwater in 1947 to celebrity at the centre of global politics two decades later. He reveals U Thant's integral yet forgotten roles in some of the twentieth century's most critical crises – from pulling the UN back from bankruptcy and battling white supremacist mercenaries in the Congo to mediating a peaceful end to the Cuban Missile Crisis – and details the shifting world order that U Thant affected.

At once rigorous and hugely entertaining, Peacemaker is an intimate biography that not only attests to the power of hope and individual action in times of great uncertainty, but also chronicles the birth of our contemporary geopolitical order.

Praise for The Hidden History of Burma:

'A sobering account, told elegantly and eruditely' Financial Times

'Thant Myint-U is the greatest living historian of Burma' William Dalrymple

Thant Myint-U is an award-winning writer, historian and conservationist. He served for over a decade with the United Nations, including in peacekeeping operations in Cambodia and the Balkans and was an advisor to the Burmese government during the early years of the transition from military dictatorship.

RTÉ

Den of Inequity

Shane Ross

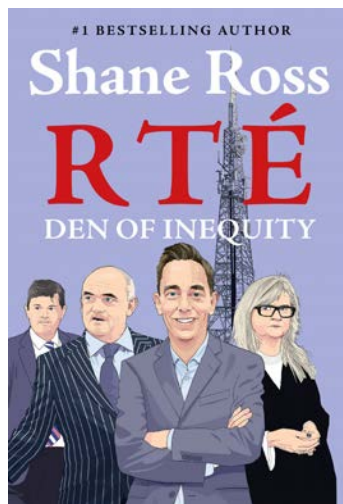

An inside account of the recent scandals which have engulfed Ireland's national broadcaster, RTÉ.

The story of corruption, waste and ineptitude at Ireland's national broadcaster has gripped the country since news of secret payments to star presenter Ryan Tubridy became public in 2023. Shane Ross, author of #1 bestsellers The Bankers and Mary Lou McDonald, takes us behind the scandal, looking back to see how RTÉ got itself into this horrible mess and also what the future might hold for this formerly beloved institution.

Praise for Mary Lou McDonald:

'[A] lively, punchy biography... Ross tells it crisply, bringing it all together and lacing the plot line of her career with interesting anecdotes and occasionally his own acerbic analysis' Irish Times

'Ross has penned an engaging narrative of this chameleon's career so far. A fine achievement' Irish Independent

Shane Ross has been a stockbroker, a journalist, a politician and an author. He was business editor of the Sunday Independent for over sixteen years. In 2016, he became Minister for Transport, Tourism and Sport, serving in government for over four years.

Turncoat

Roundhead to Royalist, the Double Life of George Downing

Dennis Sewell

The remarkable story of George Downing: soldier, politician, diplomat, spy, and possibly the biggest scoundrel in Stuart England...

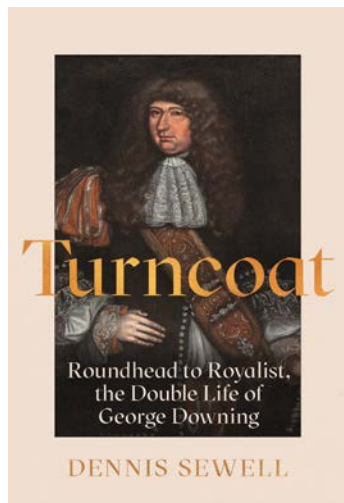

Judged by contemporaries to be a 'perfidious rogue', Sir George Downing rose to prominence during the English Civil Wars as Oliver Cromwell's chief of military intelligence. In the Interregnum he proved himself a double-dealer who bribed and blackmailed his way to diplomatic success across Europe (starting two major wars in the process) before spectacularly betraying his friends to horrifically violent deaths by defecting to Charles II's court.

Turncoat tells George Downing's story for the first time, following him from the asceticism of Puritan New England, across English battlefields, through courts, chancelleries and parliaments, to the heart of wealth and power in Restoration London.

Praise for Catholics:

'Sewell scores well in his command of history, better in his turn of phrase, and best of all in his delightful vignettes' Independent

'Richly entertaining... Excellent' A.N. Wilson, Literary Review

Dennis Sewell is a writer, broadcaster and a contributing editor of the Spectator. He spent twenty-two years on the staff of BBC News, where he worked as a reporter for Newsnight. His previous books include Catholics and The Political Gene.

Deadwood

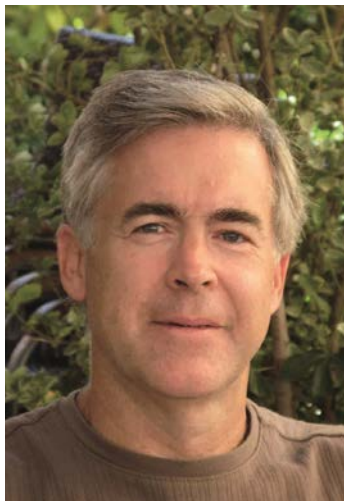

Guns, Gold and Greed in the American West

Peter Cozzens

The grisly true story of the infamous American frontier town of Deadwood, made famous in the eponymous award-winning HBO series.

Built on land brazenly stolen from the indigenous Lakotas, Deadwood was not merely a place where outlaws lurked, but was itself an outlaw enterprise: not part of any US territory or subject to its laws or governance. This gave rise to the gunslinging, stage-coach robbing, whiskey-guzzling, rampant prostitution and gambling made famous through the legendary figures of 'Wild Bill' Hickock and Calamity Jane. But this foundation also bred a spirit of cooperation which made it an exceptionally welcoming place for outcasts at a time of deep-seated discrimination.

Sifting through layers of myth and legend, Peter Cozzens is the first to tell this complex story in full, revealing how one frontier town came to embody the worst – and best – of the American West.

Peter Cozzens is the author of over eighteen books on the Civil War and the American West. His previous books include the Gilder Lehrman Prize-winning The Earth Is Weeping, The Warrior and the Prophet and A Brutal Reckoning.

Praise for Peter Cozzens:

'Cozzens is a master storyteller; his books weave a wealth of intricate detail into gripping historical narrative' The Times

Facing Infinity

Black Holes and Our Place on Earth

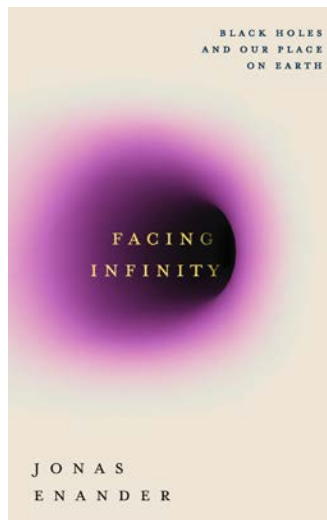

Jonas Enander

Translated from Swedish by Nichola Smalley

A fascinating and enlightening guide to the enduring mystery and majesty of black holes.

From the eighteenth-century vicar who was the first to look up at the night's sky and suggest there was something very dark and extraordinarily heavy that was moving the stars, to the first actual photograph of a black hole, 250 years later, Jonas Enander has travelled the world, visited telescopes and observatories, interviewed world-leading space researchers and delved deep into the archives to investigate how our relationship with black holes has changed over time. Facing Infinity deciphers the most mind-bending science whilst retaining a sense of wonder, in an approachable and spellbinding journey into the universe's greatest mysteries.

'An A in physics is not required to understand Facing Infinity. It is as much a portrayal of the people behind the discoveries' Vi (newspaper)

Jonas Enander has a PhD in Physics, having conducted research in cosmology and astrophysics. He currently works as a research communicator at the Oskar Klein Centre in Stockholm. Facing Infinity is his first book. He speaks English fluently.

The Path of Light

Anthony Seldon

An inspiring memoir about walking the 1,000-km route from Kilometre Zero to Auschwitz, by a leading historian.

In 2020, Anthony Seldon, inspired by a fallen World War I soldier who dreamed of a 'Via Sacra' to commemorate the war dead and stand as a marker for the triumph of peace, set out on a 1,000-km walk tracing the historic route of the Western Front.

But there wasn't to be lasting peace, with the continent falling into an even more horrific war two decades later. In The Path of Light, Seldon walks the route from where World War I ended to Auschwitz, discovering the towns and people who resisted in the face of unbearable destruction, and ruminating on the Second World War's legacy.

Praise for The Path of Peace:

'A formidable achievement' Rory Stewart

'Thoughtful [and] heartfelt' Observer

'Profound [and] compelling' Spectator

'A noble endeavour' New Statesman

Sir Anthony Seldon is an educator, historian, writer and commentator. He is author or editor of over forty books on contemporary history, politics and education, including the Sunday Times bestsellers Johnson at 10 and Truss at 10.

For the Sun After Long Nights

The Story of Iran's Women-Led Uprising

Nilo Tabrizy and Fatemeh Jamalpour

A moving and on-the-ground exploration of the 2022 protests in Iran, told through the interwoven stories of two Iranian journalists.

In 2022, in response to the killing of Mahsa Jina Amini, a 22-year-old Kurdish woman who died in police custody after being arrested for not wearing her hijab, thousands took to the streets of Iran in protest.

As they unfolded, two journalists – Fatemeh Jamalpour, recently returned to Tehran after working in London, and Nilo Tabrizy, reporting on the protests from New York – communicated through encrypted programmes to spotlight the systemic injustice of the Iranian government. The sense of sisterhood they shared led them to embark on For the Sun After Long Nights to document the spirit and legacy of the movement, and the history, geopolitics and influences that led to this point.

Nilo Tabrizy is a video reporter for the Washington Post's Visual Forensics team, having previously worked as a video journalist at the New York Times.

Fatemeh Jamalpour is an Iranian journalist banned from 'producing any kind of content' inside her country by the Ministry of Intelligence of the Islamic Republic.

Joyride

An Unconventional Memoir

Susan Orlean

A personal, inspirational ode to writing from the beloved bestselling author of The Orchid Thief and The Library Book.

'I've always been squeamish about the idea of writing a memoir because I thought my subjects were much more interesting than I am. But I do know I've led an interesting life, and that there are great stories behind my work. (I can easily fill an entire chapter with the stories behind The Orchid Thief and Adaptation!) I envision Joyride not as a conventional memoir but more of a writer's notebook. It will be full of the outtakes and reflections and anecdotes behind my published work, coupled with the nuts and bolts of getting it done.'

Praise for The Library Book:

'A constant pleasure to read... Everybody who loves books should check out The Library Book'
Washington Post

'Exquisitely written, consistently entertaining'
New York Times

'Enthralling and inspirational' Observer

Susan Orlean has been a staff writer at The New Yorker since 1992. She is the author of eight books, including The Orchid Thief, which was made into the Academy Award-winning film Adaptation. She lives with her family and her animals in Los Angeles.

Corvus is Atlantic's commercial fiction imprint, publishing in all genres, including crime and thriller, historical and women's fiction. We aim to delight readers in both print and digital with addictively entertaining and thrilling stories. Our Autumn 2025 season includes something for all tastes, from a glorious late summer taste of Provence, via romcoms both Regency and contemporary, to wartime peril, psychological chills and a revenge tale to die for. We are also proud to publish the final Merrily Watkins novel from the beloved Phil Rickman.

One Summer in Provence

Carol Drinkwater

A heartwarming, sun-kissed novel of family, community and wine-making from a beloved author and TV personality.

Celia Grey knows how lucky she is – married to the love of her life, and working with him to run the Provençal vineyard they have spent the last decade revitalizing. To celebrate, Celia is hosting an elegant evening for their friends and family.

With preparations in full swing, Celia receives a letter from a man claiming to be her son, David, the child she gave up at birth, and she impulsively invites him to the party.

When David turns up with an unexpected companion in tow, Celia's marriage, her sense of family and her equilibrium will all be challenged, and life will never be the same again...

Carol Drinkwater is an actress and writer, best known for her portrayal of Helen Herriot in All Creatures Great and Small. She is the author of twenty-five books, including the bestselling Olive Farm memoir series set in the south of France. Her latest TV series is Carol Drinkwater's Secret Provence.

Praise for An Act of Love:

What Will People Think?

Vedashree Khambete-Sharma

Jane Austen meets Bollywood in this warm and witty novel about community, family and love.

It's 1976 and in the Vile Parle suburb of Mumbai, Ila Bendre's mother is determined to get her four daughters married off. However, Ila wants a career and life of her own, and she'll do whatever it takes to escape marriage.

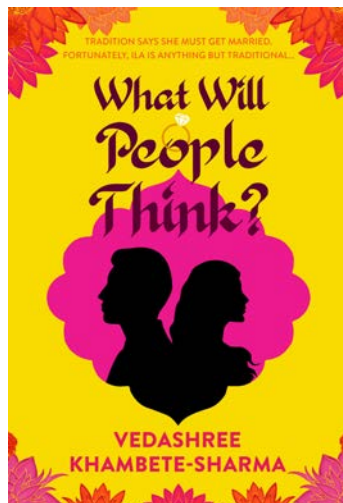

But when Ila's younger sister, Latika, takes the matter into her own hands, it looks as if the Bendre family's reputation will be ruined once and for all...

As we follow the sisters from parties to weddings, from Vile Parle to Pune, will love conquer all in this ingeniously witty and charming tale of pride, prejudice and puran polis?

'So much fun!' Katie Fforde

'Warm and clever' i

'Fresh, funny ... vivid' Daily Mail

Vedashree Khambete-Sharma

lives in Mumbai and works in advertising – over the course of her eighteen-year copywriting career, she has won both Indian and international awards for her work, including a Cannes Lion. What Will People Think? is her fourth novel.

The Ending is the Best Part

BookTok Made Me Write It

Lamia Zain

An innovative TikTok romcom written by and for the BookTok community.

When Yara meets Xander, she knows she's met her match – and not in a good way.

They're both writers for a major TV series, but that's where the similarities end.

Yara loves romance. In her spare time, she makes content about her favourite books and films. Xander is only interested in the greats: Kubrick, Scorsese, Tarantino. He doesn't have Instagram, hasn't read a book published this century.

When they're tasked with writing the finale together, they know the episode needs them both – romance and drama, head and heart.

Can they put aside their differences to create something remarkable?

Lamia Zain is a BookTok creator with over 60,000 followers on her account lamia.reads. She works in TV production and lives in Manchester.

Cairo Gambit

S. W. Perry

On the eve of World War Two, a young woman in search of her estranged father meets an unexpected ally...

Cairo, 1938. Archie Nevenden is many things: amateur archaeologist; absent father; potential defector. And now, he's a missing person.

His daughter, Prim, hasn't seen him for nearly fifteen years. But she's never given up on him, and now she's on her way to Cairo to assist in the search.

Harry Taverner claims to work for the British Council, but Prim detects deception. He clearly has a theory about Archie's disappearance, one she's not going to like.

As Prim and Harry uncover the layers of Archie's existence in Cairo, they find themselves drawn into conspiracies, betrayal and danger.

S. W. Perry is the author of six books in the highly acclaimed Jackdaw Mysteries series and has been shortlisted for the CWA Historical Dagger.

Ladies In Hating

Alexandra Vasti

Two Gothic novelists trade rivalry for love in this steamy, sapphic Regency romance by USA Today bestselling author Alexandra Vasti.

Lady Georgiana Cleeve has acquired fame, fortune and an enemy – the enigmatic Lady Darling, whose plots appear to be pulled from Georgiana's manuscripts. What's a writer to do? Unmask her rival, of course.

All is not as it seems, as Lady Darling is actually the butler's daughter, Cat Lacey, who has been clawing her family out of poverty. The last thing she needs is to be distracted by her infatuation with her beautiful rival.

When they both plan to set their next books at an eerie manor, they find themselves trapped inside and face-to-face with real danger: the scorching passion that's been haunting them.

Praise for Ne'er Duke Well:

'A gem of a Regency [romance] with dazzling banter' New York Times

'An irresistible delight from a remarkable talent. Lovely, witty and benevolently clever' India Holton

'Warm, wonderfully witty, and oh-so-sexy' Amy Rose Bennett

Alexandra Vasti loves coffee, beignets and books, in no particular order. She is the author of Ne'er Duke Well, Earl Crush and the Halifax Hellions series. In between writing swoony Regency romances with hijinks and heart, she teaches British and Caribbean literature in New Orleans.

Next Time Will Be Our Turn

Jesse Sutanto

An aching, winding, unforgettable love story which explores the love of sisters, soulmates and the sacrifices we make for family.

When seventy-three-year-old matriarch Magnolia Chen sweeps into the family Chinese New Year celebration with a woman on her arm that she introduces as her girlfriend, shockwaves ripple through the room. But her sixteen-year-old granddaughter Izzy, black sheep of the clan, is far more intrigued than angry.

Later that evening Magnolia begins to tell Izzy her story: sent from Indonesia to Los Angeles in her teens, she met Ellery O'Shea, her best friend, her safe space, the love of her life. What unfolds from there will shock Izzy to her core but also give her a new understanding of the meaning of love, loyalty and sacrifice.

Praise for Dial A for Aunties:

The Echo of Crows

Phil Rickman

The gripping final novel in the ever-popular Welsh borders-set Merrily Watkins series: where procedural meets the supernatural.

Nestled deep in the Black Mountains, the village of Longtown is haunted by the double suicide of a lottery winner and his wife.

A rich Londoner, unaware of the town's dark history, buys the dead man's cottage in the hopes of refurbishing it, then begins to fall victim to a host of bad luck.

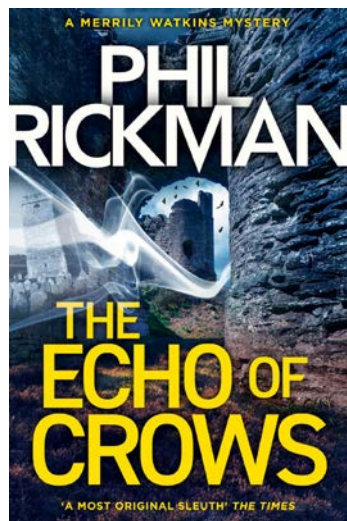

Luckily DS David Vaynor and Merrily Watkins – parish priest, single mum and renowned demon exorcist – are on the case.

Praise for Phil Rickman:

Allen & Unwin

Non-Fiction

In the footsteps of the Samuel Johnson Award-winning Neurotribes on page 74 and the 10-million-copy-bestselling The Courage to Be Disliked, Allen & Unwin specializes in expert-led and solutions-focused non-fiction in the areas of psychology, personal development, parenting and women's health, as well as select Irish and gift titles. Our Autumn 2025 highlights include former professional cyclist Michael Hutchinson testing the limits of human endurance, and Rob Temple's A Very British Christmas.

Further

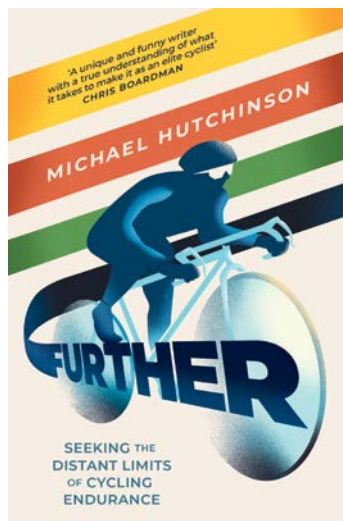

Seeking the Distant Limits of Cycling Endurance

Michael Hutchinson

A fun and enlightening book about endurance cycling by a former professional cyclist, author and writer for Cycling Weekly.

Further immerses the reader in the world of endurance cycling as well-known former professional cyclist Michael Hutchinson talks to ultra-distance athletes, exercise scientists, nutritionists and psychologists – ‘those who’ve done it and those who understand it’ – as he unpicks both the physical and mental demands, attempts to understand the key to successful endurance, and tries not to get himself accidentally killed while riding a frankly terrifying long-distance event.

‘A unique and funny writer with a true understanding of what it takes to make it as an elite cyclist’ Chris Boardman

Michael Hutchinson is a writer, journalist and former professional cyclist. As a rider he won multiple national titles in both Britain and Ireland and competed at the World Championships and the Commonwealth Games. He is the author of the award-winning The Hour, about his attempt on cycling's most famous and sought-after record.

All the Worst Humans

How I Made News for Dictators, Tycoons and Politicians

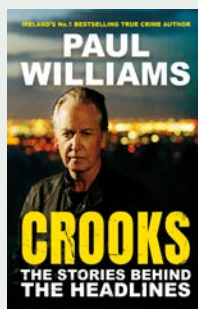

Phil Elwood

A bridge-burning, riotous memoir by a top PR operative exposing the secrets of a hidden £100 billion industry.

From helping win the Qatar World Cup bid to a four-day Las Vegas bacchanal with a dictator's son, the risky game of professional PR nearly cost Phil Elwood his life and his freedom. Now he's ready to pull back the curtain on the dark underbelly of a nefarious industry...

'Perhaps it's just a mark of how good he is at spin, but by the end I came round to rather liking the guy' Guardian

Phil Elwood is a public relations operative who has worked for some of the top – and bottom – PR firms in Washington.

A Very British Christmas

Rob Temple

The Very British Problems guide to navigating the festive season with lashings of awkwardness and mild despair.

A one-of-a-kind survival manual for everybody's least favourite aspect of the holiday season: having to spend it with your family.

From the forensic science that is gift giving – 'but what does this really convey about me as a person?' – to who sits where at the dining table, the nuances between a roast chicken and roast turkey, and how Boxing Day was probably invented so that people could finish games of Monopoly (if you are, that is, still talking to each other by that point), A Very British Christmas is a wryly hilarious celebration of Unbearably Awkward Britishness at the most Unbearably Awkward time of year.

Praise for Very British Problems:

'Had us guffawing into our Earl Grey tea' Bella

'Hilarious' Daily Express

Rob Temple, the man behind Very British Problems, is a Cambridge-based journalist who started @soverybritish in December 2012, and now has over 5M followers across Twitter, Instagram and Facebook. Crippled by social anxiety, he enjoys writing about being awkward because it's therapeutic to read comments which assure him that he's very far from alone when it comes to awkward behaviour.

How to Run an Indie Label

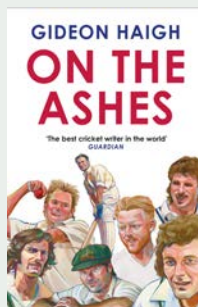

Alan McGee

A no-holds-barred rampage through gigs, clubs, boardrooms, drugs and booze... and a resilient wild spirit.

Nobody inhabits the spirit of the music business better than Alan McGee, whose nose for danger and ear for rock'n'roll brought us The Jesus and Mary Chain, Primal Scream, My Bloody Valentine and Oasis. In this unconventional instruction manual, he tells his story for the first time.

'A true believer in the power of music and more importantly a believer in the people that make music' Noel Gallagher

Alan McGee is the best-known label boss of the post-punk era and one of the last of the great music mavericks.

On The Ashes

Gideon Haigh

Published to coincide with the Ashes series in Australia in 2025/2026.

From over three decades of covering The Ashes, Gideon Haigh has brought together an enduring vision of this timeless contest between Australia and England – the world's oldest sporting rivalry – from the colonial era to the present day.

'The best cricket writer in the world'
Guardian

Gideon Haigh has written about cricket in The Australian, The Times, The Guardian, the Financial Times and in over thirty books.

Grove

Grove Press is an imprint of the renowned US publisher Grove Atlantic, who publish a boutique selection of their finest fiction and non-fiction into the UK market via Atlantic Books. Highlights for the second half of 2025 include Alex Foster's dazzling debut novel about a world spinning out of control, Thomas Perry's heart-pounding new thriller and Ingvild Rishøi's follow-up to the beloved Brightly Shining.

Cold Victory

Karl Marlantes

From bestselling author Karl Marlantes comes a propulsive and sweeping novel in which loyalty, friendship and love are put to the ultimate test.

Helsinki, 1947. Finland teeters between the Soviet Union and the West. Russian Natalya Bobrova and American Louise Koski are young wives of their country's military attachés. When they meet at an embassy party, their husbands, Arnie and Mikhail, drunkenly challenge each other to a friendly – but secret – cross-country ski race.

When Louise makes a naïve and possibly fatal mistake, she must reach Arnie to tell him to throw the race and save Mikhail from Stalin and Beria's brutal secret police. But the two skiers are in a world of their own, unreachable in Finland's arctic wilderness. Another masterful novel from the author of the modern classic Matterhorn, Cold Victory is a triumph.

'A brisk geopolitical thriller set in Finland at the beginning of the Cold War... More than a diplomatic thriller, Cold Victory is a keen and sensitive group portrait' Washington Post

'Better than Tom Clancy' Kirkus Reviews

Karl Marlantes graduated from Yale University and was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University before serving as a Marine in Vietnam, where he was awarded the Navy Cross, the Bronze Star, two Navy Commendation Medals for valour, two Purple Hearts and ten air medals. His bestselling books include Matterhorn.

When the Going Was Good

An Editor's Adventures During the Last Golden Age of Magazines

Graydon Carter

From the pages of Vanity Fair to the red carpets of Hollywood, this irresistible memoir revives the glamorous heyday of magazines.

Filled with colourful memories and intimate details, When the Going Was Good is Graydon Carter's lively recounting of how he made his mark as one of the most talented editors in the business. At Vanity Fair he assembled one of the most formidable stables of writers and photographers under one roof, and here he re-creates the steps he took to ensure it cemented its place as the epicentre of art, culture, business and politics, even as digital media took hold.

Charming, candid and brimming with stories, When the Going Was Good perfectly captures the last golden age of print magazines from the inside out.

'What a great read – but it had a downside. It served to remind me how unexciting, unremarkable, and uninteresting I am, especially compared to this Carter fellow' Larry David

'A splendidly-written and warm-hearted handbook for how to live, for how to be a friend and a leader and a parent and a partner and a dining companion that gets invited back' Lisa Taddeo

Graydon Carter is the founder of Air Mail. He co-created Spy, edited The New York Observer and for twenty-five years was the award-winning editor of Vanity Fair. He is also the Emmy and Peabody Award-winning producer of more than a dozen documentaries and one hit Broadway play.

Circular Motion

Alex Foster

A brilliantly imagined literary debut of love, despair and two people's search for belonging in a world literally spinning out of control.

The acceleration of Earth's spin begins gradually. Awareness of the phenomenon hasn't reached Tanner, a young man who flees his Alaskan hometown to work at CWC, an organization which runs a network of aircraft that orbit the Earth, allowing people to visit Paris for an evening or order sushi from Japan.

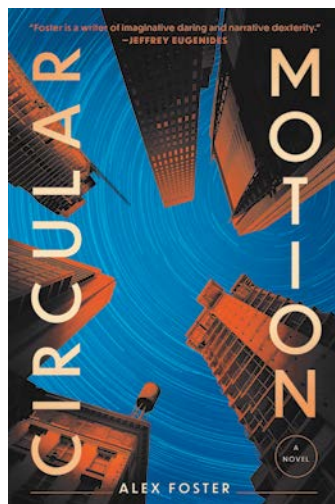

Meanwhile, high school outcast Winnie falls in with a group of activists who blame the company for the planet's acceleration.

As days on Earth quicken, Tanner and Winnie's stories spiral closer together. Three-hour days. Two-hour days...

A propulsive exploration of capitalism, technology and our place within a system that dwarfs us, Circular Motion is one of the most ingenious debut novels of our time.

'An impressive debut. Foster is a writer of imaginative daring and narrative dexterity'
Jeffrey Eugenides

'Circular Motion is a gift: every paragraph offers something to make you think, laugh, feel, or simply look up from the page and sigh in awe or recognition' Jonathan Safran Foer

Alex Foster received his MFA from New York University. He now edits books at Henry Holt & Company. Previously, he studied Economics at the University of Chicago and conducted research for the US government and for the World Bank's Gender Innovation Lab in West Africa.

Elaine

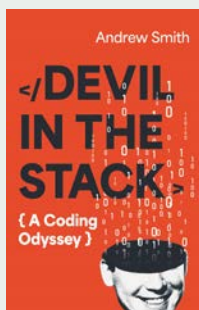

Will Self

A brilliant portrait of sublimated desire in a novel that reimagines the life of the author's mother.

As Elaine begins to push back against the strictures of her life in 1950s America, she undertakes a disastrous affair that ends her marriage and upends her life. Based on his mother's intimate diaries, Elaine shows Will Self working in an exciting new dimension.

'Elaine is not just a serious work of art, but an unexpected act of filial generosity' Guardian

Will Self's many books include Umbrella, shortlisted for the Booker Prize, and the memoir Will. He lives in South London.

Devil in the Stack

A Coding Odyssey

Andrew Smith

An immersive journey into the world of computer code, told through the author's attempt to become a coder himself.

Devil in the Stack follows Andrew Smith on his trip into the world of coding, passing through the stories of logic, machine-learning and early computing up to the present moment, behind the scenes into the lives – and minds – of those who write code.

'Much of his absorbing book asks serious questions' Mail on Sunday

'Dense, prickly and rewarding' TLS

Andrew Smith has worked as a feature writer for the Sunday Times, the Guardian, the Observer and The Face. He lives in New York.

Pro Bono

Thomas Perry

A tenacious lawyer grapples with a dangerous group of thieves in this new thriller from the author of The Old Man.

Charles Warren has dedicated his legal career to aiding people in financial straits. In his newest case, helping a young widow find the money missing from her late husband's investment accounts, Charlie recognizes a familiar scheme – one that echoes the con job that targeted his mother many years before, and that led him, as a teenager, to commit a crime that still weighs on his conscience.

Within hours of starting his investigation, he is followed, shot at and has his briefcase stolen. As Charlie continues to pursue answers, he quickly becomes too entangled in the web of fraud, betrayal and career criminals surrounding the theft to escape its deadly snare...

Thomas Perry is the bestselling author of over thirty novels, including Murder Book, the critically acclaimed Jane Whitefield series, The Old Man and The Butcher's Boy, which won an Edgar Award. He lives in Southern California.

'A modern master' Booklist

'Perry is a gifted storyteller with a perfect sense of pacing and a knack for conjuring up fascinating characters' CrimeReads

Brightly Shining

Ingvild Rishøi

Translated by Caroline Waight

Sold in twenty territories, this charming Norwegian Christmas tale will be read for years to come.

When Ronja helps her father get a job selling Christmas trees, it looks like their family's luck has turned... Slight in size but profound in content, Brightly Shining is a heartbreaking, funny and philosophical tale about the power of dreams and the kindness of strangers.

'Charming... this has the feel of a classic holiday tale' Publishers Weekly

'A deeply affecting story, beautifully told' Douglas Stuart

Ingvild Rishøi lives in Oslo. When Brightly Shining was published in Norway in 2021, it was instantly deemed a modern classic.

The Devil's Best Trick

A History of Evil

Randall Sullivan

A brilliantly researched narrative investigation of how humankind has identified and confronted evil.

Part true crime story, part historical account, part religious and literary analysis, The Devil's Best Trick is also a personal and profound rumination on crime, violence and the darkness in all of us. Randall Sullivan takes on a bold task in this book, essentially crafting a biography of the Devil.

'A master class in the difficult art of first-person, narrative nonfiction' New York Times

Randall Sullivan was a contributing editor to Rolling Stone for over twenty years and has written many books. He lives in Oregon.

Winter Stories

Ingvild Rishøi

Translated by Caroline Waight

Three contemporary tales about personal resilience in the face of adversity from the bestselling author of Brightly Shining.

In Winter Stories, we meet a teenager on the run from social services with her younger half-sister and half-brother in tow, a young single mother struggling to provide adequately for her daughter, and an ex-convict striving to overcome personal shortcomings and build a relationship with his son. We watch these characters stumble, fall and climb to their feet again, even though the deck inevitably seems to be stacked against them.

With empathy and sensitivity, Rishøi beautifully illuminates the vulnerability of the human condition. In a time when levels of scepticism and distrust are rising, these stories remind us of the humanity that unites us all.

Praise for Brightly Shining:

'This moving tale, with not a single wasted word, asks how we keep going when hope fades... leaning on the power of imagination and connection to find a way forward' Booklist

'A dazzling contemporary fable' Lily King

Ingvild Rishøi was born and raised in Oslo. She has published several collections of stories and her debut novel Brightly Shining was published in Norway in 2021. It was instantly deemed a modern classic, solidifying her position as one of Scandinavia's most revered literary voices.

My Year of Psychedelics

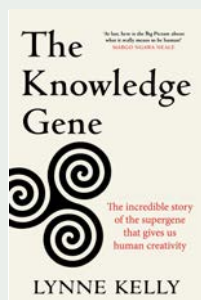

Sarah Naphthali

Exploring first-hand the amazing potential of mushrooms, MDMA, LSD and other life-enhancing substances.

Intrigued by reports of the power of psychedelics and their immense potential for personal and spiritual growth, Sarah Naphthali takes eight psychedelic medicines over the course of a year and applies what she learns to the challenges she faces as a newly divorced empty-nester.

Sarah Naphthali is the author of the international best-seller Buddhism for Mothers which sold over 100,000 copies and was translated into 13 languages.

The Knowledge Gene

The incredible story of the supergene that gives us human creativity

Lynne Kelly

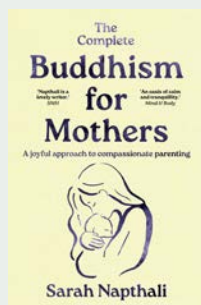

An Australian researcher's groundbreaking discovery of the source of human creativity and learning.

This is the extraordinary story of a gene that makes us uniquely human. The knowledge gene supercharged our ability to learn, and explains for the first time why humans are the only species to make art, offering new insights into the earliest music and storytelling.

'At last, here is the Big Picture about what it really means to be human!'
Professor Margo Ngawa Neale

Dr Lynne Kelly is an Adjunct Research Fellow at La Trobe University and the author of 20 books on science, including the bestselling The Memory Code.

The Complete Buddhism for Mothers

A joyful approach to compassionate parenting

Sarah Naphthali

A revised and updated edition of the international, 100,000-copy bestseller.

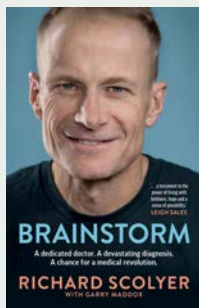

Writing from personal experience, Sarah shows us how spiritual and mindful parenting can help all mothers to be more open and content, and inspires you to be more patient, loving and attentive towards your family members and, most of all, yourself.

'Funny, uplifting, reassuring, real and wise. A truly "mothering" book for mothers' Stephanie Dowrick

Sarah Naphthali is the author of six books about applying Buddhist teachings to family life.

Brainstorm

A dedicated doctor. A devastating diagnosis. A chance for a medical revolution.

Richard Scolyer with Garry Maddox

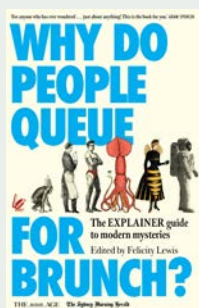

The remarkable story of a cancer doctor's fight against an 'incurable' brain cancer diagnosis.

In 2023, at the peak of his life, Richard Scolyer was diagnosed with brain cancer. As an internationally respected leading clinician and researcher, Richard was never going to accept the status quo. He instead chose to undertake world-first experimental treatment based on melanoma science.

'... a testament to the power of living with boldness, hope and a sense of possibility' Leigh Scales

Professor Richard Scolyer is a medical director of Melanoma Institute Australia and was named a 2024 Australian of the Year.

Miles Franklin Undercover

Kerrie Davies

The little-known years when Miles Franklin went from literary celebrity to fearless campaigner.

After the success and celebrity of her coming of age novel My Brilliant Career, published when Miles Franklin was only 21, she disappeared. This is the story of the decade that made her second career as a fearless advocate for working women.

'Captures a wonderful sense of Miles as a person. A fascinating page turner' Gillian Armstrong

Kerrie Davies is a former journalist, a senior lecturer at UNSW Sydney and the author of A Wife's Heart.

Mrs D is Not on a Diet

Lotta Dann

Why do we believe that to be healthy you must be skinny? And why do we spend so much time, money and energy trying to shrink ourselves?

Lotta Dann's journey with extreme dieting and drastic weight loss led to endless praise for her skinny body. But no one knew what she had to do to maintain it. When the weight came back, Lotta started asking fundamental questions that she'd never considered before...

Lotta Dann is the author of Mrs D is Going Without, Mrs D is Going Within and The Wine O'Clock Myth.
